BY W. R. McCALLUM.

EATURE holes or holes that call for all that is best in the player abound on the course of the Columbia Country Club, where the open clusive. There is not a weak hole on the course, according to prominent professional golfers who have played at Columbia during the past year. What small weaknesses there might have been, notably in the fifth and eleventh holes, now are being eradicated and will not be noticed by the time the first of July rolls around.

Perhaps the strongest hole on the course—certainly the one which stands out most prominently in the mind of the visiting player, whether amateur or professional, is the fourteenth, with the fifteenth running it a leg holes, there being six holes which to the left. All in all, the fourteenth is a very strong hole and one within that category on the left. All in all, the fourteenth is a very strong hole and one links. The fourteenth probably is the left of the strange of the yanks in the second period the Arrow club flashed a five-man defense and kept the Yanks in check, the winners only being able to cage the three winners only being able to cage the winners.

The Columbia course runs to dogleg holes, there being six holes which come within that category on the links. The fourteenth probably is the one which will bring out the best qualities in the players in the coming open championship.

The hole as it will be played during the open is not of great length, being only about 425 yards, nothing out of the ordinary as a two-shotter to players of first rank, such as will compete in the championship. The big features of the hole, however, lie in the fact that both shots must be placed with the most unerring accuracy, particularly the second shot. There are endless possibilities for trouble at the leaving a pitch of about 150 yards a finely played midiron or jigger second shot, there should be no difficulty in securing the par 4. But there is ample trouble for the player who misses his tee shot in the slightest degree. If the ball is topped it is almost sure to find a ditch 100 yards in front of the tee. If it has good carry, but is sliced, it either finds a bunker or high rough grass from which it is or high rough grass, from which it is almost impossible to reach the green. A hooked tee shot will find major difficulty in very high grass bordered by a strip of trees and shrubbery.

Even when the player hits a fine tee shot 220 variety to the top of the but the shot 220 variety to the top of the but the shot 220 variety to the top of the but the shot 220 variety to the top of the but the shot 220 variety to the top of the but the shot 220 variety to the top of the but the shot 220 variety to the top of the but the shot 220 variety to the top of the but the shot 220 variety to the top of the but the shot 220 variety to the top of the but the shot 220 variety to the top of the but the shot 220 variety to the top of the but the shot 220 variety to the top of the but the shot 220 variety to the shot 2200 vari Even when the player hits a fine tee shot 220 yards to the top of the hill, he then has a very delicate second shot to reach the putting surface. His pitch must be high, with plenty of drag, for the ball must almost necessarily hit on the green if it is to remain there. On both sides of the green there are high banks, dropping some twenty feet below the surface of the green and nicely carpeted with rough grass and weeds. Back of the green is a shallow bunker and back of that, to prevent the player from going too strong, is the railroad track coing too strong, is the railroad track hat has spoiled many a good score both at this hole and the seventeenth.

The fifteenth has been characterized by Walter J. Travis as one of the finest holes in the United tures of the hole, however, lie in the fact that both shots must be placed with the most unerring accuracy, particularly the second shot. There are indices possibilities for trouble at the fourteenth, and while it will be a relatively easy 4 if both shots are played correctly, there also is a good chase for a 6 or 7 on the player's card if either the tee shot or second shot goes wrong.

Must Drive to Top of Hill.

The tee shot must carry 170 yards from a long and deep tee 20 yards back of the present tee to a certain spot on top of a hill overlooking the green. If it does not reach this spot, certainly a shot worthy only of a master golfer is needed to reach and stay on the putting green. Granted a 220-yard drive in the proper place and a finely played midiron or jigger second shot, there should be no difficulty in securing the par 4. But there is ample trouble for the player who water must be carried. The ditch runs to the left of the green and within twenty yards of it. A ball landing on the green itself will stay there, but if it goes over there is infinite possibility for travel, for a shallow ditch parallels the west or right side of the green, which is raised about five feet at the back.

The player who obtains the par of 4

The player who obtains the par of 4 is entitled to it on this hole. Ted Ray, the open champion, took the short cut to the left in a match last year at Columbia and found trouble, finally winding up with a 6 on his card and eliminating him from a chance at the prize money for the best round put up by a member of the clash.

Professionals in the coming oper championship will do well to follow the straight and narrow path at the fifteenth and make every effort to reach the hole by the dog-leg route rather than by cutting the corner to the left.

HAT was the most remarkable feat of hitting you saw Babe Ruth perform last season? That query has been put to me since the close of the 1920 campaign, when Ruth broke all records by cracking out fifty-four home runs.

Ruth pulled so many unusual batting feats last summer it is difficult in sending that five down to defeat before the Navy Plebes, 29 to 24. Carl Cullen and Milton Mills are the lads seen him crash out homers with the bases filled. I have marveled at classify either as the most remarkable feat performed by Ruth last season.

classify either as the most remarkable feat performed by Ruth last season.

I think the most unusual batting performance by Ruth last season didn't come with the bases filled or break up an extra inning game. It was made at the expense of Howard Ehmke, one of the best pitchers in the American League. It was a home run on the only good ball bitched to him in the game was a femarkable feat. I finished the season with the New York club last year as Ruth make last summer, in distance or in value. It was the conditions under which Ruth made his home run that made the hit stand out as his best performance of the season.

Ruth Jinx te Ehmke.

Ruth, in a way, has always been a first base at the lower of performance of the season.

Ruth, with a couple men on, would hit out a homer that would change everything. Past experience had made Ehmke cautious when Ruth came to the bat. I can see a good reason, perhaps, for purpossly passing Ruth with a couple of runners on and the game close. That is considered good base ball, regardless of how distasteful it may be to fandom. However, I can see no reason why a pitcher should purposely pass Ruth with the bases empty, and particularly so with two out.

In the game to which I refer, Ehmke statted his passlent testing in the game to which I refer, Ehmke statted his passlent testing. In the game to which I refer, Ehmke started his passing tactics in the first inning. Possibly he was working under orders, because on his first trip to the plate, Ehmke threw four balls so wide Ruth would have needed a bat almost twice as long as the one he uses to get a real swing at them. The bases were empty, neither side had scored, and there was no reason for such a safety-first idea. About 25,000 fans were in attendance,

So, if you should ask Babe what was the greatest thing he did in the hitting line last year, he will probably reply. "Making a home run off Walter Johnson."

S. A. Scholastic Basket Ball Tournament to Be Held Here

With D. C. Basketers

Kanawha Athletic Club registered its seventh consecutive win by van-quishing the Destroyer Athletic Club, 27 to 8. Johnston, a Kanawha forward, made eight floor goals. Leopard Athletic Club pointed the way to the Stantons in a 20-to-12 en-gagement. The winners were adept at free tossing.

Warwick Juniors defeated the St. John's Preps, 19 to 11, in Ingram gymnasium. Lowden, one of the win-ners' guards, played a fast floor game. Herdie Midgets, who beat the War-wick Midgets, 21 to 6, yesterday, will meet the Warwicks again on Thurslay night in Ingram gymnasium. Perry Athletic Club stopped Troop 10, Boy Scouts, in a 24-to-17 game. Connors starred for the winners and Dreadnaught Athletic Club of Alex-

The most individual cigar

ROBT. BURNS' reputation as an individual cigar is national reaching into every nook and corner of the country. What other full-Havanafilled cigar, selling at Robt. Burns prices, is smoked to the same extent as Robt. Burns?

Like the Robt. Burns cigar, Robt. Burns smokers, too, are individual. Robt. Burns conforms to their ideas of what a fine cigar should be. They like Robt. Burns' full Havana filler. They appreciate the May-mildness which special curing and the mild Sumatra wrapper give to this Havana.

Robt, Burns smokers always ask for Robt. Burns by name. It is next to impossible, cigar dealers declare, to sell Robt. Burns smokers anything but Robt. Burns cigara.
